As we pray daily for each other and for the sick and shut-in, may God give us grace and strength for the day.

Two in 'OA'

Two Boy Scouts who are members of Appomattox Troop 546, Roy Brennen and Chris Robinson, were honored by induction into the Order of the Arrow.

The Order of the Arrow is comprised of honor campers who have been selected by their fellow troop members as the best campers. Only one or two Scouts can be selected yearly by the Appomattox Troop. Candidates are selected by secret ballot and then must undergo an "ordeal" weekend of hard work, silence and fasting before becoming OA member.

Arrowmen, as OA members are called, give of their time and talent in cheerful service and brotherhood to foster and improve the Scout camping facilities.

Over the past few years several boys have been selected as Arrowmen, in addition to Roy and Chris, local troop members David Totty, Ben Martin, Roger Steinkamp, Mike Carmody Louis Robinson and Bently Nash are Arrowmen.

Roy and Chris recently completed their ordeal weekend. Scouts considerit a big honor to be selected to the Order of the Arrow.

Boy Scout Troop 546 meets every Wednesday at 7 p.m. at St. Anne's Episcopal Church. Any boy 11 through 17 may join.

Troop 546 is sponsored by the Appomattox Lions Club.

Football excellence a tradition at ACHS

By PHIL AGEE

Now that school is in session and fall is on the way, many of Appomattox County's citizens turn their thoughts to football.

A successful football team is nothing new to Appomatox County. Many of those who attended ACHS contests today were once members of one of the best high school treams to ever play in the state of Virginia. No. it wasn't just one lucky season, but rather the birth of a tradition. This tradition is still true today.

Football prominence started years ago when Gordon Bragg became coach. "Football was was everything back then," stated Bragg. "I remember playing before 8500 people." Today, because of his great success as a coach, Bragg is honored with having the football stadium named after him.

Appomattx High School played many of the same teams faced today by the Raiders. According to Bragg, Altavista, Nelson County, and Amherst County were all major rivals. The Appomattox team also did extensive traveling. Andrew Lewis, Dan River, G.W.-Danville, and Chatham were all once e opponents of AHS. "We even went to Virginia Beach to play Princess Anne," noted Bragg.

The amazing fact about Bragg's teams, however, was their winning percentages. While Bragg was coach, AHS won 170 games, lost 40 and tied 10 - an outstanding 77 percent.

Last Friday's 49-0 victory over Randolph-Henry brought back many memories for former Appomattox players. Randolph-Henry, a team always faced by Appomattox during Gordon Bragg's coaching days, has given Appomatox many tough battles over the years. They have, however failed to come out on top in 25 tries.

Today the tradition continues under second-year head coach Gary Cuccio. Every Friday night the band, cheerleaders, fans, coaches and players all combine to form a winnig spirit unsurpassed by opther schools.

The next time you're sitting in Bragg Stadium, take a moment to remember the pride and tradition that has always been a part of our football program. See if it doesn't spark your spirit!!

Chorale Boosters to meet

The regular meeting of the Appomattox County High School Chorale Boosters will be held Monday, Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school music room.

All members of the organization are urged to attend.

THIS OIL ON CANVAS depiction of an Italian landscape is by native Virginian John Gadsby Chapman (1808-1890). Acquired by the Virginia Museum in 1956, it is included in the Museum's artmobile exhibition "Realities," to be on view in Appomattox Sept. 20 through Sept. 23.

At Appomattox Elementary

Artmobile visit nears

A painting by a 19th-century Virginian who spent a major part of his life as an expatriate artist in Rome is included in the Virginia Museum artmobile exhibition, "Realities," coming to Appomattox on September 20.

John Gadsby Chapman, known for his attention to minute detail and his sensitive handling of strong colors, painted "Harvest on the Roman Campagna" in 1857, seven years after he settled in the Italian capital.

The work is a pastoral landscape set on the Campagna di Roma, an 800-square mile plain in central Italy. The painting was acquired by the Museum for its permanent collection in 1956.

Chapman is perhaps best known for an 1837 mural, "The Baptism of Pocahontas," commissioned for the rotunda of the U.S. Capitol building.

"Realities" includes 16 paintings - landscapes, still lifes and portraits - by American, Italian, Dutch and Oriental artists from the 16th through the 20th centuries. The exhibition explores the varied ways in which artists have interpreted visual reality.

It will remain on view in Appomattox through September 23, and is sponsored locally by the Junior Woman's Club and Appomattox Elementary School under the auspices of the Virginia Museum.

The artmobile will be parked at Appomattox Elementary (rear entrance) and will be open from 3 to 5 p.m.

Additional information on the artmobile's stay in Appomattox may be obtained by telephoning C. T. Bowmann at Appomattox Elementary School at 352-7463.

Chapman was born in Alexandria in 1808, and studied under painters George Cook and Charles Bird King. By the time he was 18 he had established himself as an artist in Winchester.

Aspiring to be a painter of historical scenes, he traveled to Italy where he copied masterpieces in Florence and Rome. When he returned to America he exhibited widely on the East Coast and mounted one-artist shows in Richmond and Washington, according to artmobile curator Allison Hedgepeth, who will welcome visitors to the exhibition here.

Before he received the Pocahontas mural commission, Chapman also produced illustrations for a variety of periodicals and books, including 1,400 for Harper's Family Bible.

"Although his services were avidly sought, he was continually in debt," says Miss Hedgepeth. "For that reason, as well as for his health, he went abroad in 1850 and lived as an expatriate in Rome for 34 years.

It was early in this period that he painted the work included in the exhibition, as well as many small etchings of the Italian cmuantryside to sell to American tourists.
